FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Guaranteed Recycling Xperts Announces New Location in Omaha

Denver, CO August 8, 2008. Guaranteed Recycling Xperts (GRX) announced the opening of its newest electronic recycling facility in Omaha, NE. The 47,000 sq ft facility is the fourth location where GRX collects and responsibly recycles electronic equipment such as computers, televisions, and small appliances. The Omaha location will provide complete de-manufacturing processing capabilities that meet the highest environmental standards for recyclers.

GRX built strong relationships with many companies and government entities in Nebraska and surrounding states who needed secure electronic recycling services. Until now it has been trucking collected electronics back to its Denver facility. "This new location will allow us to better serve our clients in the Omaha area and allow us to extend our services into a larger area in the Midwest," said John Miller, Vice President of GRX. "We expect the first 15,000 pounds of electronics to arrive for recycling next Wednesday."

After electronic waste material is collected, dismantled, sorted and reduced in the GRX facilities, it is further processed by carefully screened partners so as much material as possible can re-enter the manufacturing stream. This is the goal of responsible electronic recyclers. GRX guarantees it does not export hazardous waste material; it does not landfill or incinerate hazardous waste material and has signed the Basel Action Network's (BAN) Pledge of True Stewardship which provides the most rigorous set of environmental business standards for electronics recyclers.

"Demand for de-manufacturing and recycling facilities that responsibly handle the exploding problem of hazardous electronic waste disposal is growing rapidly" said Mike Wright, President and CEO of GRX. "By providing locations close to customers we provide better service, keep toxic hazardous materials out of local landfills, and reduce environmental impact of additional transportation." The new GRX facility will be located at 4330 South 102nd Street, Omaha, NE 68127. The phone number is 866-479 -4920.
